

UNIVERSITY WRITING REQUIREMENT

Written work is an important part of the University curriculum because writing offers students the opportunity to think deeply and searchingly about their subjects and because skill in written expression is crucial to the welfare of both individuals and society. The University policy regarding written work includes the following requirements and provisions:

1. As part of the General Education Requirement, each student must satisfy the communication and literature requirements in writing.
2. All students must satisfy the Graduation Writing Requirement. Each department must evaluate the writing ability of its majors by means of a required course (or choice of courses) with substantial writing assignments. Students should consult their University academic advisor or major department chairperson regarding this course and other aspects of the department's writing policy. Click the "Writing Requirement Courses" tab for a list of which courses fulfill the GWR.
3. The Center for Writing Excellence (<http://www.montclair.edu/center-for-writing-excellence/>) (located in Bohn Hall) is available to all Montclair State students who are committed to developing themselves as writers. Consultations are also available to all faculty.
